The Giver 13
As the Santayana quote goes, “Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it.” Or, if Shakespeare is more your style, “What’s past is prologue.” Poet preferences aside, the meaning is the same: our past can and should have a profound influence on our future.

I’m reminded of monarch butterflies. Each winter, monarchs migrate more than 2,500 miles down to Mexico and back again. But, their lifespan is so short that no butterfly completes the journey twice. So how do they know when and where to go? Scientists have theorized that the butterflies pass down a genetic memory of the journey to help the next generation survive. There’s even evidence to suggest that they fly around land masses that don’t exist anymore! Following the guidance of their ancestors’ past is essential to the survival of the species.

In stark contrast, The Giver explores a world where the past has been almost completely erased. To create a utopia, anything unpredictable has been eliminated. Only one person in the society, the Receiver, carries the memories of how the world used to be, when there were wonderful things like color but also terrible things like warfare. In this story, young Jonas takes on this vital but difficult role. Since only the Receiver remembers the past, only the Receiver can make any meaningful decisions about the future - a reality that Jonas is right to question.

One of the most poignant aspects of this story is the importance of accepting negative memories as a part of life. Jonas must learn about human suffering in order to prevent it. Similarly, those monarch butterflies must remember the failures of past generations in order to survive. In our own lives, we know that pain is a powerful teacher, and sadness gives meaning to happiness. Knowing this doesn’t make pain or sadness any easier, but it does help us bear the burden and create a better future.

My own history has led me to bringing The Giver to life on stage. Lois Lowry’s award-winning novel captured my young imagination in Jackie Gerlach’s 8th grade English class. Soon after, we saw First Stage Children’s Theatre perform one of the first productions of this very adaptation. I was enchanted. These experiences, along with years of performing at WCT, brought me to an opportunity: to share with you this captivating and thought-provoking story. I hope it’s one you won’t forget.

This is an exciting time at Waukesha Civic Theatre as we get ready to celebrate the launch of our 63rd Season and we hope to see you all at our first annual reception and performance on May 22nd at 7 p.m. the theatre! Looking ahead to next season, which begins on July 1st, you will catch a fresh and fun PIX Flix movie series, Alice in Wonderland JR and Les Misérables School Edition from our Academy at Civic Theatre program, in addition to seven mainstage shows and several exciting Random Acts and ACAP Playmakers productions. To finish the 62nd with a flourish, we have a couple of great shows that join The Giver to cap off this season, including Miscast and But Why Bump Off Barnaby?

The Giver is a phenomenal choice in production this season, and we are thrilled you are here to experience it with this outstanding production team and cast. In a world that is often messy and complicated, I would bet that every audience member has imagined a world that is safer, cleaner, less emotionally challenging - a utopia - but The Giver challenges us to an understanding that if you remove the complicated and painful, you also remove the spontaneous and the joyful. I hope you enjoy Jonas’ journey on our Waukesha Civic Theatre stage today.

I would like to thank everyone that supports Waukesha Civic Theatre. We wouldn’t be here without you. The volunteers are the heart of this theatre, contributing on stage and off, serving on the Board of Directors, ushering for our many events, providing maintenance and office support, and working on multiple production elements. You, our patrons, come to WCT to enjoy quality live entertainment which is only possible because of our incredible volunteers and staff.

How does our community theatre thrive? Through patrons like you, who return show after show to support our theatre community, and through our donors and community sponsorships. Our donors help keep us financially sound and looking to the future through gifts to the Annual Operating Fund, the Endowment Fund, and by including us in planned estate giving.

The generosity of the Waukesha community is mind-blowing and life-giving, and we at WCT truly appreciate the time, talent, and financial resources that each of you give to keep our theatre thriving.

The best way to support WCT is to spread the word about Waukesha’s top choice for live entertainment. Find us on social media, like and share, and help us spread the word. These are exciting times and we are thrilled that you are here with us.

We hope you are entertained, enriched, and challenged and that you come back for more!

When I was asked to write something about The Giver a couple months ago, I had mixed feelings. I didn’t want to admit that this title is the book I purchased many years ago and didn’t even read a page of it yet. Honestly, the cover with the old man on it made me apprehensive to read it. Then, my middle school daughter told me it was her favorite book. So with this task at hand and the encouragement of my daughter, I dusted off my copy and starting reading and reading and reading. I was so intrigued by the book that when I found out it is a series of four books, I had to get them all. I am currently on the third book in the series. The old man on the cover has taught me to truly never judge a book by its cover. My daughter and I are now anxiously awaiting to see this book come to life on the Waukesha Civic Theatre stage.

The Giver is the story where Jonas lives in a utopia with no pain, no fear – and no choice. Language is precise and sterile; emotions and other physical impulses are controlled. At age 12, children are assigned a vocation. As Jonas approaches this momentous occasion, he notices strange things happening to ordinary objects around him – which no one else seems to notice. He is assigned a special job – to receive and keep the memories of the community. But what happens when he learns the truth – that there could be choice, and love, and what it means for a person to be Released? Based on the Newberry Award winning novel by Lois Lowry.

Thank you for visiting the Waukesha Civic Theatre. We hope you enjoy the show.

WAUKESHA CIVIC THEATRE MISSION STATEMENT

WCT’s mission is to provide quality live theatre performances and educational opportunities that enrich, challenge, and entertain both participants and audience members.

WAUKESHA STATE BANK ART GALLERY

Located just outside the Mardi Bryant Jones Mainstage inside the Margaret Brate Bryant Civic Theatre Building, the Waukesha State Bank Art Gallery features the work of local artists. A new artist’s work is displayed during the run of each of WCT’s productions. The work of the artists can be viewed whenever the box office is open. The art displayed during The Giver is by Catholic Memorial High School students.

The Civic Broadway Singers perform year-round in southeastern Wisconsin under the musical direction of Abby Lorenz. The 30-voice group sings memorable Broadway favorites for a variety of events from company picnics and Christmas parties to corporate lunches and grand openings. The Civic Broadway Singers provide their own piano and sound system and will perform for groups of all sizes in exchange for a donation to the theatre. To schedule the Civic Broadway Singers at your next event, please call Abby at (414) 350-8713 or e-mail her at AbbyLorenz@wi.rr.com.

CIVIC SENIOR PLAYERS The Civic Senior Players – Traveling to make you laugh! We are a fun-loving group of performers who love to entertain others. We’ll bring our unique comedy-variety show to your senior organization community group or any event looking for a laugh in exchange for a donation to the Waukesha Civic Theatre. To schedule an event or if you have an interest in becoming a performer, please call Carol at (262) 549-1091 or e-mail her at wctplayers@wi.rr.com.

ACAP PLAYMAKERS The PlayMakers provide daytime and weekend performances (often of original works) based upon school curricula themes and ideas relevant to children at various stages of their education. These family-friendly shows are great for public, private, and home school groups, Boy and Girl Scout troops, senior centers, and your family! Please call (262) 547-0708 for ticket prices and information. PlayMakers rehearse and perform in the daytime and are always looking for new actors and technical personnel.

For the hearing impaired we have a T-Coil Loop System, T-Coil Listening Devices, and FM listening devices that will amplify the sounds of the performance. Patrons must have hearing aids with telecoils installed and activated to use the Loop System. Patrons who are blind can receive audio descriptive services for the performance. Wheelchair accessibility is available in two forms: transfer seats and wheelchair positions.

PATRONS Please refrain from wearing highly-scented colognes, perfumes, hand cream, or aftershave to performances as many people have allergies or respiratory problems. WCT is concerned for all patrons, and we appreciate your cooperation.

PARKING Parking is available on Main Street, in the Riverfront Plaza parking area behind the Theatre, off Barstow Street, in the parking facility on Broadway, and at other locations in downtown Waukesha.
