DIRECTOR’S NOTE

For those of you who have attended Nicolet’s musicals for the last six years, you have probably discovered that I am a fan of a musical that is a bit quirky, and Little Shop of Horrors definitely fits that description as a horror comedy rock musical.

This show had its world premiere Off-Off Broadway on May 6, 1982 at the Workshop of the Players Art Foundation (WPA Theatre), playing there until June 6, 1982. It opened Off-Broadway at the Orpheum Theatre in Manhattan’s East Village on July 27, 1982. The production, directed by Ashman, with musical staging by Edie Cowan, was critically acclaimed and won several awards including the 1982–1983 Drama Desk Award for Outstanding Musical, as well as the New York Drama Critics Circle Award for Best Musical and the Outer Critics Circle Award. Howard Ashman wrote, in the introduction to the acting edition of the libretto, that the show “satirizes many things: science fiction, ‘B’ movies, musical comedy itself, and even the Faust legend”. Beyond these ideas are also the themes of class struggle, consumer greed and moral values.

The production ran for 5 years. When it closed on November 1, 1987, after 2,209 performances, it was the third-longest running musical and the highest-grossing production in Off-Broadway history. Though a Broadway transfer had been proposed for the production, book writer Howard Ashman felt the show belonged where it was. Since it was not produced on Broadway, the original production was ineligible for the 1982 Tony Awards.

The show can be done with as few as eight actors. Again, if you have attended our shows in the past, you know that Nicolet theater is about providing opportunity for a lot of students to be involved in a great show. We have done this while also having a rocking good time!!! Thank you to our incredible production team. Without each of these

Enjoy the show!
